Dear all,

Re: Attached document, Contaminants and toxins in food and feed Codex 193

Bill Camplin of CEFAS has kindly provided the attached document (Contaminants and toxins in food and feed Codex 193), in response to the request made in paragraph 5 of the EHSC meeting 73 minutes.

The document is the outcome of the Food and Agriculture Organisation (FAO) assessment of radionuclides in foods.

The levels identified in the report are for use in emergency situations. Codex does not recommend levels for use in routine situations.

The Food Standards Agency is the lead authority on radioactivity in food in the UK and should be contacted for further advice.

Kind Regards

Richard Rhodes
Secretary to the WCSSG EHSC
